Ms. Moon is a civil litigator with over 20 years of defense experience, including more than 20 jury and bench trials in California state and federal courts. Ms. Moon focuses her practice on personal injury, employment law, government liability, and civil rights. She has arbitrated and mediated hundreds of matters, has taken and defended a similar number of depositions, and has brought successful motions for summary judgment in both employment and general liability cases.

With her deep experience as a civil defense attorney, Ms. Moon assesses exposure early in a case and provides an accurate determination of defense costs, enabling the client to make an informed decision regarding whether to settle or litigate a claim.

Ms. Moon graduated from University of California, Santa Cruz, in 1992 with a Bachelor of Arts Degree in Literature. She subsequently received her Juris Doctor degree from American University – Washington College of law in 1996. She is admitted to practice in California state courts and the United States District Court, Northern, Eastern, Western, and Southern Districts of California.
